
George Stoller

MEMORIES—Former Auto-Vue Drive-In Theatre owner George Stoller stands amidst what once was a snack bar and projection building. Vandals have destroyed the building, leaving it a pile of broken blocks and shattered boards. "In Search of the Castaways" and "Submarine X-1" played Sept. 20, 1970, the last films to be shown at the theatre. Stoller decided not to reopen the drive-in after a windstorm the following November toppled the screen.